Home – Online Exhibition by Alex Lim

Artistic teen artist Alex Lim (@theunskilledboy) is presenting his second solo exhibition, Home. The 17-year-old will release over 40 acrylic paintings with a colourful, pop art food theme on his website www.theunskilledboy.com as well as on The Unskilled Boy's FB and IG pages.

Expect to see paintings of favourite local dishes like Chwee Kueh, Siew Mai, Chicken Rice, Prata, Nyonya Kueh, Chilli Crab and more.

Each acrylic painting on a (20 x 26 x 2 cm) primed linen canvas is priced affordably at $65, $70, $75 and $80 each. In 2021, during the pandemic, he held his first (sold out) solo exhibition, I Am Alex, virtually. Following that, Alex has since produced three other sold-out series comprising 12 paintings each – Animal Series, Tiger Series, and Angry Art Series.

The Not-So-Peaceful Last Days of Peace Centre - Plural Art Mag

Many of us know Peace Centre as a dingy old mall, far from its glory days of being one of the pioneer malls in Singapore alongside others like Golden Mile Complex. Peace Centre opened in December 1974, and its reputation slowly declined as the popularity of KTV lounges grew in...
